

ITCS212 - Web Programming

Lab 1: HTML (Part I)

MUST READ:

- There is only one question for the lab
- Q1 is required to be submitted on MyCourses following the naming convention by today's class time by 5 pm. (Bangkok time). You must notify LAs via the SOS sheet to grade your work
- The SOS sheet will be opened by the instructor or LA (approximately the beginning of the lab). The student who wants to submit or ask questions shall put their name on the list. Do not put your name for reservation ahead of time.
- The SOS sheet are here: [sec1][sec2][sec3]
- No late submission allowed

Q1: Write HTML code to generate your one-day (or more) trip of your choice of destination. Note: if you never go to any destinations, plan one :). The page should have the following requirements

- The title of the HTML page must be your student ID and section:
`<6288XXX> <Sec Y> Q1.`
- There should be a heading title (using HTML `h1` tag) for the name of your trip.
- A paragraph (using HTML paragraph tag) consists of at least three sentences describing your trip.
- The trip details must be in a tabular format using HTML `table` tag. You can add rows and columns as much as you like (See the example page below)
- For each meal of the day, you must merge columns to highlight the content
- The page should have at least 2 HTML list tag (unordered or ordered)
- The page should have at least 1 link
- The page should have at least 1 image. Note: if you use the image from your computer, please make sure to use a correct (relative) path, also include the image file for submission on MyCourses
- Include the following code in `<head>` section of the HTML page for table borders

<style>
    table, tr, th, td {
        border: 1px solid black;
    }

Submit your HTML file, named as 6X88XXX_secY_q1.html (or if you have multiple files with images, submit your `6X88XXX_secY_q1.zip`), by the end of the day 5 pm via MyCourse (where `6X88XXX` is your Mahidol student ID and `secY` is your section). Please notify your LAs for grading before submitting this question.
